

The amount of water used to produce each gallon of California milk has decreased more than

↓ 88%

over the past 50-plus years, primarily due to:

improved feed
crop production

use of byproducts
as feed

water use
efficiency